Dear Commission Appointment Committee:

The listing of 3 open seats in the Seattle LGBT Commission caught my attention through the Greater Seattle Business Association's website. With the community work, experience, and exposure I have gathered, I firmly believe that I would make a strong addition to the current commissioners. As one of the leading youth activists in the state, I have had the breeding and experience it takes to be a contributing force.

I have dedicated my life in pushing forth in creating a safer and more accepting environment. As the current reigning Mr. Gay Washington, I have already been placed in the position of being a public figure and staying on top of the issues regarding the LGBTQ community. As credit to me and my potential, my appointment shows only the promise and support that the LGBT community already places upon me as a state representative of one of the biggest LGBT national non-profits organizations.

It is my patience, diligence, and persistence that will make my presence as a commissioner most important in communicating with different branches that the position calls for. With my passion, optimism, and excitement that will be key in making great advances for the LGBT community. As my resume displays, I have displayed a tremendous deal in serving my community. My efficient work with the youth may express my connection to today's youth and show how that can be the key in progressiveness in Seattle.

I further hope, that my belief and love for the LGBT community be displayed with this appointment package. I look forward to raising the bar in the tactics in tackling the issues that the community faces. I have great plans and insights towards the success of the change I hope to see one day.

Sincerely,
Julian Gaspay
Mr Gay WA 20120 2013
